Thank you for keeping our doors open with your hearts!

Dear Friends,

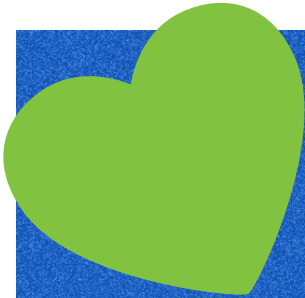

Without you, we would not have been able to navigate through one of the most challenging years yet. We were blessed to keep our doors open and fulfill our mission to eliminate barriers for children and their families as they journeyed through . We are supported 100% by charitable contributions and grants so we can serve our children and their families at minimal cost. During the past fiscal year, we provided more than 200 hours of respite care and supported hundreds of children and families with our various programs. It required staff with passion and endless dedication to make The Brave Warrior Project a safe and healthy environment for our children and their families. I would like to thank The Brave Warrior Project's Board of Directors, our community partners and the volunteers who surpassed all expectations by showing creativity to support the center in so many ways. Most importantly, thank you to our team members who navigated COVID-19 challenges with a positive and inspiring commitment to care for our warriors and their families. Your continued support is appreciated more than ever as we look forward to the future and bring back volunteers and visitors into the center to continue our mission.

Warm regards,
Erica Moshe,

Recreational Therapy

Recreational Therapy may just seem like fun, but each interaction has a defined purpose.

From outdoor adventures to rock climbing to art projects and more, Recreational Therapy invites our warriors to channel their energies towards the things that make them happy, they get to focus on being kids again. Self-expression promotes self-esteem, and that is exactly why therapeutic recreation has such a significant impact on an individual's social, physical, cognitive and psychological development.

Parent to Parent

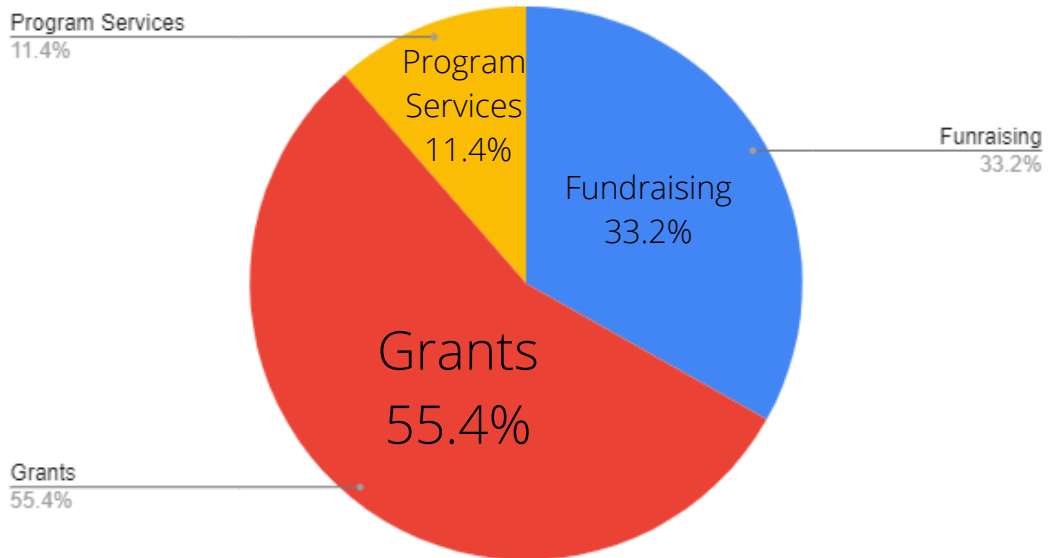

Parent to Parent offers emotional support, information about community resources, education, and events to parents of children with developmental disabilities, chronic illness or special health care needs. Parents have many questions and concerns when coping with their child's needs and their own feelings. You are not alone!
